Although a complete win/loss record is not available, Leonard Allen is one of the most successful basketball coaches in Walker High School's history. In twelve seasons as head coach, his teams won one state championship, were state runners-up once, and in the state finals another six times, winning six district championships. He coached numerous All-State players, as well as one future professional athlete. In his final year as coach, his team was a Class A State semi-finalist and District Champs. His team's only missed making the playoffs twice. Mr. Allen became principal and served WHS in that capacity until 1974.
